The proposed course may be the only one a student takes in this category. The ten courses required in Discovery comprise a curriculum in which each course represents not only its home discipline, but also teaches students about relationships to cognate or other fields:

- 1. How does this course help students understand the category which it represents? (If you are asking for approval for more than one category, please respond separately for each.)

- 2. How does this course make explicit the relationships amongst related—and perhaps even distant—fields or disciplines?
