

UNIVERSITY of NEW HAMPSHIRE

Colleagues:

Since moving into T-Hall last August, I have been searching for the most effective and efficient way to communicate with the research community; a way that gets important information to you without overloading the “Inbox” or requiring constant checking of the website. What I’d like to try is a limited set of brief, concise emails, which will come to you under the heading of “Cyberside Chats” (with apologies to FDR). This will be a series of occasional communications that should fit in one email window, and will point you to resources and information that may be important to your work.

Cyberside Chats will be sent initially to all faculty who are active in applying for external funding. If this sounds like spam to you, email Diana Couture (diana.couture@unh.edu) to have your name removed. If you find a colleague who didn’t get this message but would like to be on the list, have them contact Diana as well. All “Chats” will be posted on the first page of the VPRPS website.

I’ve got a couple of topics to present to you, so look for another Cyberside Chat soon.
