Impact of Romney's Comments Regarding Massachusetts

“On a recent trip, Governor Romney has poked fun at Massachusetts’ reputation as a liberal state, telling an audience that ‘being a conservative Republican in Massachusetts is a bit like being a cattle rancher at a vegetarian convention.’ Some people think these kinds of comments are relatively harmless while others think that they can hurt Massachusetts reputation and make it hard to attract businesses. What about you ... do you think that Governor Romney’s comments hurt Massachusetts or do you think they are relatively harmless?”

Put Gay Marriage Amendment on 2006 Ballot?

“The Massachusetts legislature is considering putting a proposed constitutional amendment on the November 2006 ballot which would ban gay marriages but allow civil unions for gays and lesbians. Some people favor allowing a vote on this amendment because it lets voters rather than the Supreme Judicial Court decide the issue. Other people oppose a vote on the amendment because the SJC has already said gay marriages are legal in Massachusetts. What about you ... do you think the legislature should put the proposed amendment on the ballot or not?”

Support/Oppose Stem Cell Research Using Human Embryos

“State Senate President Robert Travaglini (TRAVA- LINI) has proposed a bill that would give the state’s endorsement to stem cell research using human embryos. Supporters of stem cell research, including scientists at Harvard and other institutions say this research may someday lead to cures for a number of diseases. Opponents of certain types of stem cell research, including Governor Romney, say that some types of stem cell research using human embryos destroy human lives. What about you ... do you support or oppose stem cell research using human embryos?”
