Introduction

At the end of the 2019-2020 legislative session, New Hampshire enacted RSA 188:H relative to sexual misconduct at institutions of higher education, becoming the first law in NH history aimed at addressing campus sexual misconduct at all Institutions of Higher Education (IHE) in the State. One component, RSA 188-H:4, mandates IHEs to conduct a sexual misconduct campus climate survey biennially to assess students' experiences with, outcomes, and perceptions of campus sexual misconduct and campus safety. The campus climate survey includes a set of common questions known as the "base survey" which was created by a legislatively mandated task force, RSA 188-H:5.

The task force developed a NH specific survey from the Administrator Researcher Campus Climate Collaborative (ARC3)<sup>1</sup>, a validated survey instrument that provides comprehensive modules with questions for sexual assault, relationship violence and stalking, as well as perception of climate questions. The NH base survey uses the majority of ARC3 modules, with integrated questions which satisfy the requirements in RSA 188:H-5. The task force provided guidance to IHEs on how to adapt questions and response categories to meet their campus profile and align with campus specific offices, programs and resources.

The following report summarizes the sexual misconduct climate survey findings from the University of New Hampshire Manchester (UNHM). Nadine Petty, Associate Vice President for Community, Equity, and Diversity, administered the sexual misconduct climate survey, prepared by Prevention Innovations Research Center at the University of New Hampshire, and disseminated it via Qualtrics, an online survey program, between February 21 and March 13, 2022. Undergraduate and graduate students were invited to participate in the survey through two mass emails, fliers with QR codes posted and QR code in The Flush (weekly newsletter). QR codes also on tables during Fresh Check Day where students were eating and word of mouth in classrooms.

Students' participation in the survey was voluntary, and they could choose to skip questions or stop responding at any point in the survey. Responses were confidential; the survey did not collect IP addresses or link survey responses to students' names, student IDs, or email addresses. Additionally, students were reminded that any information about sexual misconduct shared in the survey did NOT constitute a formal report of misconduct to UNHM and as such would NOT result in any action, disciplinary or otherwise. Students were provided with reporting, as well as confidential support resources on and off campus at the beginning and end of the survey. These resources are also listed at the end of this summary report.

Prevention Innovations Research Center analyzed the data using SPSS 28 and the summary of these findings are presented in this report. Questions about the survey, summary data report, and UNH Manchester's next steps to utilize findings to inform sexual misconduct resources, prevention, policy initiatives, and current work to advance Title IX on campus should be directed to Laura Buchs, Title IX

<sup>1</sup> As defined by the ARC3 survey, sexual misconduct refers to physical contact or non-physical conduct of a sexual nature in the absence of clear, knowing and voluntary consent. Examples include sexual or gender-based harassment, stalking, dating violence, and sexual violence (ARC3 2015).

Summary of Findings

- Seventeen participants (25%) reported experiencing at least one incident of sexual harassment by a faculty or staff member at UNH Manchester.
- Sixteen participants (25%) reported experiencing at least one incident of sexual harassment by another student.
- Eleven student (18%) reported at least one stalking experience.
- Six participants (10%) experienced at least one incident of dating violence.
- Nearly all of the reported sexual harassment, stalking, dating violence and sexual violence incidents occurred on campus.
- Men were most likely to be the person who committed the sexual harassment, stalking, dating violence and sexual violence behaviors.
- Someone known to the targeted person perpetrated the majority of all of the reported sexual harassment, stalking, dating violence and sexual violence incidents.
- Reduced grade point average (GPA) was the greatest impact of sexual harassment, stalking, dating violence and sexual violence on a student's academic performance.
- The greatest negative financial impacts on a student's academic career were costs incurred for needed physical and mental health services resulting from sexual harassment, stalking, dating violence and sexual violence.
- Forty-two percent of students told someone about the incident before responding to this survey. They are most likely to tell a close friend other than a roommate.
- The majority of participants agreed that they feel safe at UNH Manchester.
- Sixty-five percent of participants reported that they do not believe sexual violence is a problem at UNH Manchester.

Survey Data Report

Response Rate and Survey Demographics

Undergraduate students enrolled at UNH Manchester were invited to participate in the climate survey. Of the 600 students who were emailed the link to the survey, 91 participated in the survey. Thus, the overall response rate was 15%. Respondents could choose the questions they wished to answer, and they could exit the survey at any point. Accordingly, the number of responses presented in the following tables vary by question because some participants chose to skip some of the questions.

In Table 1, we present key demographic characteristics of survey respondents.

Sexual Misconduct

The types of victimization measured in the sexual misconduct climate survey included participant reports of sexual harassment by a faculty and/or staff member, sexual harassment by fellow students, stalking, dating violence, and sexual violence victimization. Participants were asked to identify all the victimization types that they have experienced “since enrolling at their school.”

Participants who indicated experiencing at least one incident of victimization (mentioned above) were asked follow-up questions for each section. The data presented is not mutually exclusive, meaning that individuals could be counted in each subcategory more than once (i.e., they experienced more than one type of victimization).

A. Sexual Harassment by Faculty/Staff

The ARC3 Climate Survey measured sexual harassment by a faculty member, instructor, or staff member using the 16-item Department of Defense Sexual Experiences Questionnaire (SEQ-DoD) (Fitzgerald et al, 1999) that asked students to rate the frequency with which each item had occurred since enrolling at their school as never, once or twice, sometimes, often, or many times. Any answer other than never for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Seventeen participants (25%) reported experiencing at least one incident of sexual harassment by a faculty or staff member at UNH Manchester.

Table 2 participants could report multiple experiences of sexual harassment, the table shows the number (N) of participants who responded to each question. The percent (%) is calculated based on the number of students who reported that they experienced at least one type of incident. Any answer other than never for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Follow-Up: Sexual Harassment by Faculty/Staff

All participants who reported at least one incident of sexual harassment by a faculty or staff member were directed to answer follow-up questions based on ONE SITUATION. Table 3 summarizes the follow-up questions that were asked to any participant who reported at least one incident of sexual harassment by a faculty/staff member. The table presents the number and percent of respondents in each category who reported at least one incident of sexual harassment by a faculty/staff

B. Sexual Harassment by Fellow Students

The ARC3 measured sexual harassment by fellow students with nine items from the Sexual Experiences Questionnaire (Fitzgerald et al., 1988, 1995) and three items from the AAUW Knowledge Networks

Survey (Nukulij, 2011) that asked students to rate the frequency with which each item had occurred since enrolling at their school as never, once or twice, sometimes, often, or many times. Any answer other than never for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Sixteen participants (25%) reported experiencing at least one incident of sexual harassment by another student.

Table 5 summarizes participants’ reported rates of sexual harassment perpetrated by a fellow student. Since participants could report multiple experiences of sexual harassment by a fellow student, the table shows the number (N) of participants who responded to each question. The percent (%) is calculated based on the number of students who reported that they experienced at least one type of incident. Any answer other than never for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Follow-Up: Sexual Harassment by Fellow Students

Table 6 summarizes the follow-up questions that were asked to any participant who reported at least one incident of sexual harassment by a fellow student. The table presents the number and percent of respondents in each category who reported at least one incident of sexual harassment by a fellow student.

C. Stalking

Stalking was measured on the ARC3 with 8 items from the National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey (NISVS) (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 2011) that asked students to rate the frequency with which each item had occurred since enrolling at their school as none, 1-2 times, 3-5 times, 5-8 times, or more than 8 times. Any answer other than never for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Eleven student (18%) reported at least one stalking experience.

Table 8 summarizes participants’ reported rates of stalking. Since participants could report multiple experiences of stalking, the table shows the number (N) of participants who responded to each question. The percent (%) is calculated based on the number of students who reported that they experienced at least one type of incident. Any answer other than none for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Follow-Up: Stalking

All participants who reported at least one incident of stalking were directed to follow-up questions (based on the participant’s identification of one incident of stalking victimization that had the greatest effect on them). As shown in Table 9, men were 100% of the people committing the stalking behavior and the majority of stalking incidents were perpetrated by an acquaintance (40%), former romantic partner (30%), or stranger (30%). One hundred percent of the stalking incident occurred on campus.

D. Dating Violence

Dating violence was measured with 6 items from the Partner Victimization Scale (Hamby, 2014) and the Women’s Experience with Battering Scale (Smith, Earp, & DeVellis, 1995). These items assessed both physical and psychological dating violence experienced by participants. Participants were asked questions about incidents involving any “hook-up, boyfriend, girlfriend, husband, or wife, including exes” since enrolling at their school. Participants rated the frequency with which each item had occurred as never, once or twice, sometimes, often, or many times. An affirmative response to one or more items indicated dating violence victimization.

Six participants (10%) experienced at least one incident of dating violence.

In Table 11, we present the participant reported rates for each category of dating violence victimization. Since participants could report multiple experiences of dating violence, the table shows the number (N) of participants who responded to each question. The percent (%) is calculated based on the number of students who reported that they experienced at least one type of incident. Any answer other than never for each type of dating violence was treated as an affirmative response.

Follow-Up: Dating Violence

All participants who reported at least item of dating violence victimization were directed to follow-up questions (based on the participant’s identification of one incident of dating violence victimization that had the greatest impact on their life). As shown in Table 12, the majority of participants reported that the perpetrator was a man and identified them as their former or current romantic partner.

E. Sexual Violence

The ARC3 measured sexual violence victimization using the Sexual Experiences Survey Short Form Victimization (SES-SFV) (Koss et al., 2007). The SES-SFV has 25 questions measuring five types of sexual violence victimization. For each question, students indicated the frequency (0 times, 1 time, 2 times, or 3+ times) with which someone used coercion, force, or incapacitation against them since they enrolled at their school. An affirmative response to one or more items indicated sexual violence victimization.

In Tables 14-18, we present the participant reported rates for each category of sexual violence. Since participants could report multiple experiences of sexual violence, the table shows the number (N) of participants who responded to each question. The percent (%) is calculated based on the number of students who reported that they experienced at least one type of incident. Any answer other than 0 times for each type of sexual violence was treated as an affirmative response.

Participant Satisfaction and Safety

In Table 23, we present the percentage of participants who “agree” or “strongly agree” with statements about their satisfaction with UNH Manchester and their safety on campus. The majority of respondents would recommend UNH Manchester to others and would still attend if they had to make the choice again. When asked about general safety, as well as safety from specific forms of violence, the majority of participants agreed that they feel safe at their school. Sixty-five percent of participants also reported that they do not believe sexual violence is a problem at UNH Manchester.

Perceptions of How UNH Manchester Might Handle a Report of Sexual Misconduct

Participants were asked to respond to statements describing how they thought their school might handle a sexual misconduct report. In Table 24, we summarize participants' perceptions of how "likely" or "very likely" they believe UNH Manchester would be to handle a report of sexual misconduct. Participants believed school officials would take the report seriously and handle it fairly. The majority of participants believed UNH Manchester would support and protect the victim and maintain their privacy.

Exposure to Sexual Misconduct Information and Education

In Table 25, we summarize participants’ exposure to information or education about sexual misconduct before and since enrolling at their school. The majority of participants reported that they had received information about sexual misconduct prior to attending UNH Manchester. However, participants reported lower rates of exposure to sexual misconduct information and education at UNH Manchester. Participants were most likely to report exposure through conversations with family and friends and in posters about sexual misconduct.

Participant Awareness of Resources and Reporting Options

In Table 26, we present the percentage of participants who “agree” or “strongly agree” with statements about reporting sexual misconduct at UNH Manchester. Participants were also asked questions regarding their awareness of school-specific resources. More than half of participants agreed that they know where to get help for and make a report of sexual misconduct on campus. However, less than half of participants understand what happens after a report is made.

RSA 188:H Campus Climate Survey
University of New Hampshire Manchester
Spring 2022

UNH Manchester is dedicated to fostering a caring and supportive community. We are committed to ensuring that all students have the opportunity to fully benefit from our courses, programs, and activities in an environment that is safe. Sexual violence, sexual harassment, stalking, and intimate partner violence can interfere with a student's academic performance and emotional and physical well-being. Preventing and remedying sexual misconduct at UNH Manchester is essential to ensuring an environment in which our students can learn and feel secure.

As a student at UNH Manchester, you have the opportunity to provide us with important information about your experiences since you enrolled. The overall goal of the survey is to collect information on campus sexual misconduct prevalence and response and to use that information to guide future policies and practices.

Your voice is extremely important, and we want you to feel comfortable in answering these questions freely and honestly. Your confidentiality is a priority, and whatever information you share on this survey cannot be identified: we cannot access your IP address or link your survey to your name, student ID, or email address. Your participation is voluntary, and you may choose to skip questions or stop responding at any point in the survey. Because the survey asks about perceptions and experiences related sexual misconduct, some questions may bring up difficult or uncomfortable feelings for some students. You can download support and reporting resources at the beginning of the survey or at the end of the survey.

REMINDER: Any information about sexual misconduct shared in the survey does NOT constitute a formal report or complaint of misconduct to UNH Manchester and as such will NOT result in any action, disciplinary or otherwise. Should you have issues, concerns, or complaints, or would like to make a formal report, please contact:

Laura Buchs, Title IX Coordinator, Phone: 603-862-2930, Email: laura.buchs@unh.edu

Thank you so much for your time, and we look forward to better understanding your experiences here at UNH Manchester.
