

UNH Global Education Program Type Comparison

	Partner	Exchange	Faculty-led	Other International Experiences (OIE)
Definition	Developed, managed and administered by third-party providers or foreign institutions; vetted by UNH. Students apply to provider.	A reciprocal exchange between select foreign universities allowing students from each school to directly enroll at the other institution.	Directed by UNH faculty who teach at least one course abroad and provide on-site coordination and leadership.	UNH-related activities abroad, e.g., research, student organization trips, performing arts trips.
Academics	Courses organized by provider and/or foreign institution. Transfer credit guaranteed. Students need pre-approval to fill requirements.	Transfer credit guaranteed. Students need pre-approval to fill requirements. Students directly enroll in courses at foreign universities.	UNH courses; possibly local courses depending on program. Aligned with UNH curricula, it is easier to fulfill major, minor and/or Discovery requirements.	Typically, not for credit. If credit is involved, it is arranged individually as an independent study.
Costs and Aid	Pay to third party provider directly. Cost includes tuition and program fees for housing, excursions, on-site support and possibly insurance. Pay some UNH administrative fees. Financial aid applies.	Pay UNH tuition and some fees, including international traveler's medical/security insurance. Housing support may be limited. Financial aid applies.	Pay UNH tuition and program fees covering housing, some meals, excursions, field trips and international traveler's medical/security insurance. Financial aid applies.	Students are responsible for all costs. Some UNH fees apply, including international traveler's medical/security insurance.
Students	Program participants will be U.S. students, possibly some from UNH. Courses taken mostly with U.S. and international students.	Courses taken with mostly local and international students. This is a highly independent, full immersion experience.	Study abroad with other UNH students. A few programs may also enroll non-UNH students.	The type and number of students participating varies widely depending on activity.
When	Academic year, fall, spring, summer, or January term	Academic year, fall, spring, some summer	Fall, spring, summer, or January term. Short programs integrated in UNH courses are offered during spring break or in May.	Year-round
Contacts	UNH Global Education study.abroad@unh.edu www.unh.edu/global	UNH Global Education study.abroad@unh.edu www.unh.edu/global	UNH Global Education or program faculty leader	UNH Global Education study.abroad@unh.edu www.unh.edu/global