Faculty Scholars Program
2022-2023

September 21, 2021

TO: UNH Durham & Manchester Tenured Faculty
FROM: The University Faculty Development Committee

The Faculty Development Committee is pleased to announce the opening of applications for the 2022-2023 Faculty Scholars competition. Application Deadline: Friday, October 29, 2021

Purpose:
The Faculty Scholars Program provides UNH scholars who are at a critical stage in completing a phase of their ongoing work the opportunity to devote themselves full time to their scholarly activity for at least one semester. The committee anticipates that this opportunity will help recipients make a major contribution to their professional development or to the culmination of a major scholarly effort.

Financial Support:
The Office of the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs will provide support for this program. The Faculty Development Committee will select up to four awardees, preferably from at least two different colleges or schools. The academic affairs office will transfer funds to cover release time on behalf of each awardee to the appropriate dean’s office. The dean will be responsible for making whatever arrangements are necessary to allow the faculty members to devote themselves full time to scholarship for one semester. The funds are not directly available to the awardee for reimbursement of budgeted expenses.

Duration:
These awards are to be used for either fall semester 2022 or spring semester 2023.

Relationship to Sabbatical Leaves:
The Faculty Scholars Program is independent of the sabbatical leave program. A scholarship award does not affect the “sabbatical clock” of the faculty scholar. A faculty member planning a sabbatical leave may apply for a faculty scholar’s award for the same academic year. Evaluation of the merits of scholarship proposals will be independent of sabbatical arrangements or possibilities.

Eligibility:
An applicant for a faculty scholarship must be a tenured member of the faculty of the University of New Hampshire. The applicant should be able to present evidence of an ongoing commitment to scholarship and/or a new discovery, concept, research perspective, or opportunity for performance, exhibition or research that provides the unusual circumstance justifying a scholarship award. Priority is normally given to faculty who have not received awards in the last few years.
The application must consist of the following sections and specifically address each listed item:

I. The Proposal (10 pages maximum, exclusive of documentation)

(a) A succinct description of the proposed scholarly or artistic activities, objectives, and timeframe

(b) A brief discussion of the current status of the applicant's research or work and the impact that the proposed full-time activity will have on the attainment of the applicant's objectives

(c) A list of current external research or artistic support and pending and/or planned applications for such support

(d) Documentation to assist the reviewers in assessing the importance of the proposed activities to the field of study:

   i. Applicant's current brief curriculum vitae
   ii. No more than three letters of support from colleagues and/or experts in the field (in addition to letters of support from chair and dean).

   Letters of support may be sent directly to applicant’s dean’s office.

II. Administrative Support

The application must contain letters from the applicant’s department chair and school/college dean endorsing the proposal.

Applications must be received by Friday, October 29, 2021
