

2020 MARY MAYHEW PRACTITIONER AWARD

The Mary Mayhew Practitioner Award recognizes New Hampshire individuals for their vision and leadership in ending gender-based violence, including sexual and relationship violence and stalking. This award is named in honor of Mary Mayhew, one of the five founders of the Prevention Innovations Research Center. Mary devoted her professional career and personal life to working on issues directly related to violence against women. Her remarkable contributions to the field are numerous, most notably through her outstanding leadership as Director of the Sexual Harassment and Rape Prevention Program (SHARPP) located on the UNH campus and as Executive Director of Starting Point: Services for Victims of Domestic & Sexual Violence. We are proud to recognize Mary's dedication, compassion, and legacy of service with this award.

SELECTION CRITERIA

The MARY MAYHEW PRACTITIONER AWARD is presented to an individual who has worked to end gender-based violence and stalking in New Hampshire. While all the criteria listed below must be demonstrated in the body of work of the award recipient, it is not required that all of the criteria be met through work in New Hampshire.

The MARY MAYHEW PRACTITIONER AWARD is presented to an individual who has:

- Advanced the field through evidence-based practice
- Improved the prevention and response of systems to gender-based violence, including sexual and relationship violence and stalking
- Increased public awareness and knowledge about the incidence, causes and contributing factors, and nature of sexual and relationship violence and stalking
- An understanding of the effects of trauma on victims
- The ability to address existing problems and gaps in prevention, services or other responses with innovative trauma-informed solutions
- An understanding of gender-based violence, including sexual and relationship violence and stalking as social justice issues
