Join us for this interdisciplinary and highly engaging event, where leading experts in the field share viewpoints, experiences and discuss how the rapidly emerging and evolving open innovation paradigm can be applied in developing countries to facilitate their catch-up with the developed world, how intellectual property might impact this and what pragmatic policy and strategies might be appropriate to facilitate this process.

Sonia Baldia/Kilpatrick Townsend & Stockton
A Problem Solving Approach to High Transaction Costs in Private International IP Transactions

William Murphy/Professor, UNH School of Law
Legal Challenges Facing the Open Innovation Paradigm

Laura Schoppe/Founder & President, Fuentek
Symbiotic Innovation for Global Technology Transfer

Michael Schrage/Research Fellow, MIT Center for Digital Business
The Next IP: (Re) Defining Tomorrow’s Open Innovation Imperatives

Charlie Schwartz/International Business Environment Advisor
Intellectual Property and Economic Development: A Win-Win Situation

Marc Sedam/Associate Vice Provost of Innovation and New Ventures, UNHInnovation
Technology-based Economic Development

Marco Vincenzi/Lecturer Economics, Paul College of Business & Economics, UNH
The Rise of International Co-Invention in Transition Economies

Alfred Watkins/Chairman, Global Solutions Summit
IP and Technology Deployment

University of New Hampshire
School of Law
2 White Street
Concord, NH

With generous support from the Class of ’54 Academic Enrichment Fund

Breakfast and lunch will be provided
RSVP to Mary O'Malley mary.omalley@law.unh.edu by Thursday, April 9th