UNIVERSITY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

Bias Response Protocol

I. INTRODUCTION

In a letter dated March 1, 2006, Provost Bruce Mallory and Vice President for Student and Academic Services Mark Rubinstein requested that a Bias Response Protocol be organized. Specifically, the charge is to define severity levels of bias incidents (including hate crimes) that should guide communication decisions to stakeholder groups and the University community at large. They asked that “consideration…be given to the importance of maintaining a sense of perspective on…incidents, according each its proper weight and notification necessary.” This document outlines a campus-wide protocol and notification system. This is not meant to override the responsibilities of offices such as Community Standards, Residential Life, Housing, Memorial Union Building (MUB), UNH Police, or Affirmative Action and Equity to respond to incidents reported to them. It will, however, complement the work of these offices and fill in a gap in response that currently exists for incidents that occur outside the MUB and campus residences.

II. VISION

Every community member should be aware of our collective commitment to maintaining a safe and welcoming environment through periodic public reports on the outcomes of reports of acts of bias. In its Statement of Nondiscrimination, the University makes clear that it does not discriminate against persons because of their race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, or marital status. Furthermore, the Discrimination and Discriminatory Harassment Policy states that “no member of UNH may engage in harassing behavior within the jurisdiction of the university that unjustly interferes with any individual’s required tasks, career opportunities, learning, or participation in university life.” And finally, the UNH Code of Conduct is to protect the “university’s educational mission of teaching, research, and public service, as well as to promote every student’s academic achievement and personal development.” (https://www.unh.edu/student-life/2017-2018-student-rights-rules-and-responsibilities) This vision is aligned with the fifth Core Value of commitment to community, to foster a diverse campus climate in the Academic Plan (http://www.academicplan.unh.edu/).

III. PURPOSE

The Bias Response Protocol provides an organized response to bias incidents (including hate crimes) when they occur, and a mechanism to inform the person or group harmed and the community about the outcomes.

IV. APPLICATION OF PROTOCOL

This Protocol covers the UNH campus and may be initiated when an incident occurs off campus if it adversely affects the University Community and/or the pursuit of its objectives. (Code of Conduct, Article II, Section 1. Jurisdiction of the University).
It may also be implemented in areas such as the residence units or MUB if an incident rises to the severity that necessitates campus-wide action. Currently, the Residential Life and Housing staffs follow a response protocol that is well designed for high-density living areas of primarily traditional aged students (18-22). Access to these areas is much more restricted and supervised than other areas of campus. As well, MUB staff currently follows a protocol that is well designed to respond to incidents that occur in the student union building.

V. STRUCTURE

Responders are charged to receive and provide an initial review of reports of bias incidents that come in via the reportit! website or that come directly to any of them; determine if there is evidence of any criminal activity or activity that would trigger response under prevailing federal or state statutes, agency regulations and guidelines, or the UNH Code of Conduct or UNH Discrimination and Discriminatory Harassment Policy; expeditiously follow up with the person filing the report; consult with appropriate offices about action steps; devise response strategies when appropriate or collaborate with offices to respond; and report out the findings and responses as appropriate.

- Responders are the Director & Title IX Coordinator, Affirmative Action and Equity Office; the Dean of Students or designee, and a representative of the UNH Police Department.

- The Responders will immediately examine the severity of all reported bias incidents and review options for an appropriate response following University policies and procedures and federal and state laws. Assessment of the severity of a bias incident will take into consideration (1) threats to safety, (2) the public nature of the incident, and (3) the appearance of premeditation of the incident (see Appendix D Definitions). If deemed appropriate, the Responders may call together some or all of the Affiliates and/or contact them via an email distribution list serve. The purpose of the contact will be to pass along information (subject to privacy laws and policies) about an incident, if it involves any form of threat to public safety, physical violence to an individual or group, appears to be premeditated and created for public display and attention, or is large-scale in its impact. Consultation may also occur.

- Personally identifying information about students is subject to the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). FERPA was designed to protect the privacy of student education records. When a report of a bias incident that contains FERPA-protected personally identifiable information about students comes to the attention of any Responder, that information will remain confidential under the following circumstances as required by law: FERPA permits disclosure to school officials with a legitimate educational interest. A school official is a person employed by the University in an administrative, supervisory, academic or research support staff position (including law enforcement unit, personnel and health staff). USNH General Counsel advises that UNH is not authorized to disclose personally identifiable information to students serving in capacity such as the Bias Response Protocol Affiliates without first obtaining permission from the student(s).
Affiliates are charged, if appropriate, with providing accurate information to their constituencies and/or devising educational response strategies and act proactively to address potential future incidents and issues of climate as appropriate.

- Affiliates may include but are not limited to: President’s Commissions’ Chairs or designees; Associate Vice President for Community, Equity, and Diversity; Community Standards Programs; Residential Life and Housing representatives (CAs, RAs, RHDs and central staff); Chair of the Student Senate Community Change Council; Chair of the Diversity Support Coalition; Graduate Student Senate representative; Sexual Harassment & Rape Prevention Program (SHARPP) administrators; President’s Athletic Advisory Committee; Academic Support Services; Student Athletic Advisory Committee; Health & Wellness; Psychological and Counseling Services; UNH-Manchester representative; Student Accessibility Services (SAS); Military & Veterans Services; Office of International Students and Scholars; and Facilities representatives (such as building managers for academic buildings) and Student Life representatives for student facilities (for example the Directors of the MUB, Hamel Recreation, etc.). Inclusion of any Affiliate may depend on the location/severity of incident. (Dean’s Council is appropriate to suggest representation.)

Reporting: A report that remains on Blackboard will be updated each semester. This report contains statistical information on all reports received from reportit!, Housing, Residential Life, and the MUB during the semester. Comparative data among reporting Academic Year will be available.

VII. RESPONSE GUIDELINES

First Amendment: Respond with the First Amendment in mind. Conduct that is protected by the First Amendment is not actionable under law, or the UNH Student Code of Conduct.

• Location: In considering the First Amendment, we must look at location. A limited public space, like Thompson Hall lawn, is a traditional location for protected speech. At UNH, there are no “speech zones.” Restrictions of time, place, and manner are placed on students, faculty, and staff according to the UNH Student Rights, Rules, and Responsibilities “Outdoor Assemblies and Events, Solicitation and Dissemination of Viewpoints in Public Areas on Campus,” but such restrictions must remain content-neutral and cannot interfere with the message. Non-public forums include offices and related corridors. If there were to be a sit-in at the President’s Office, for example, it would not be constitutionally protected.

• Context: Threats are assessed by looking at context. Vague expressions that are not directed at an identifiable individual or group of individuals (such as a campus organization) may be protected.

• Consultation: As deemed appropriate, the person or group harmed may be consulted when formulating a response, and informed of the outcome. His/Her/Their participation in any outcome should be voluntary.

• Safety: Police and SHARPP may be consulted to assist in providing the person or group harmed with custom-designed safety plans, and can also provide safety programming and information to groups, following an incident. This is not a guarantee of safety, nor can an officer or SHARPP staff member typically be assigned to personally protect any individual or group. However, officers can and do step up patrols, and their visibility, in certain areas or during events.
• Response: Offices such as the Affirmative Action and Equity Office, UNH Police, Community Standards, etc., are designated to receive reports, and respond to incidents and complaints of alleged discrimination and discriminatory harassment, including sexual harassment. They will continue in this capacity. When incidents occur that are deemed a threat to public safety, the UNH Police representative will immediately notify the public, especially as per the Clery Act Timely Warning protocol or as otherwise necessary. As well, if the media (newspapers, television) are involved, Affiliates will be notified.

• Privacy and Due Process: Respond with the privacy rights and due process rights of the person or group harmed and the accused in mind.

• See also Appendix A and B.

VIII. FACTORS AND INTENSITY SCALES
(To be considered in determining an appropriate response)

a. Bias incident (including hate crimes): Factors to be considered in assessing the severity of an incident include: evidence of unprivileged or unwanted verbal or physical contact; unsolicited verbal or electronic contact; size and graphic nature of vandalism, graffiti, or display; egregiousness and persistence of behavior; interference with another person’s right to education; academic or employment opportunities; evidence that behavior was motivated by bias, prejudice, or hate. (Adapted from “FIRE’s Guide to Free Speech on Campus”)

Examples from least to most intense
• Off-hand statement lacking any threat
• Offensive name called in the heat of an argument
• Offensive word written on memo board, not targeted, easily erased
• Offensive action that is disruptive or interferes with the benefits and entitlements of participation in the community (ex. yelling, pounding, slamming doors)
• Offensive word intended for members of a protected category, regardless of perceived intention
• Offensive word intended for members because of their actual or perceived protected category
• Symbol or slogan of violence (ex. swastika or cross burning, “wetbacks don’t belong on our campus”) targeted at a member of a protected class of people
• Confronting someone with offensive words or actions at or in a particularly inflammatory time or manner
• Destroying or vandalizing personal property of a member of a historically protected category of people, with offensive references
• Stalking and referencing a person’s or group’s protected category
• Physical violence
b. Threat to safety:
Specificity of method, time, place, target group or individual, detail of plan or thought. The more specific, the more likely the threat may be real.

Examples from least to most intense
- Short verbal altercation that ends in apology
- Threatening words against a person or group within a protected class that are vague regarding time, place, or method
- Specific threats against a member or members’ protected class status. This can include any one, combination, or all of the following: time, place, method.
- Unprivileged or uninvited physical contact
- Violence

c. Public nature:
Buildings, sidewalks, throughways that are open and accessible to the public, websites that are not password protected, electronic communication that is mass-distributed.

Examples from least to most intense
- Within a dorm or apartment room
- Between participants only
- In a lounge or hallway of a dorm
- In a classroom or academic building
- Outside, and/or with loud voices, or large graffiti
- In public areas where the voice or writing, or symbolism cannot be ignored

d. Appearance of pre-meditation:
Vandalism that is pervasive, incidents that lack evidence of spontaneity, violation of password protected electronic communications and websites, individuals or groups identified by name.

From least to most intense
- Impromptu, blurting out, or using non-permanent materials (pencil) to write or mark
- Writing an Instant Message
- Writing an email
- Posting to a blog or other social networks such as Facebook, MySpace, YouTube
- Waiting for someone to emerge from a class, dorm, or other facility
- Sending a letter
- Using visual aids and materials

IX. EXAMPLES OF RESPONSES AND ACTION STEPS

- Initiate an education campaign targeted to either a specific area, or the entire campus, that outlines what happened, why it is being investigated, how information about the incident can be reported and to whom.

- Provide support and information for the person or group harmed. Provide counseling and resources available on campus and in the community at large. Provide information about a safety plan, or programming on safety strategies.
• Reach out to the Deans and appropriate support staff to offer talking points for bringing up incidents that occur in academic buildings. Adapt talking points and share with other staff around campus.

• Provide classroom or group/individual based talking points for follow-up discussions.

• Conduct a threat assessment with UNH or Durham Police. Follow through with safety recommendations.

• Offer mediation through the Community Standards office.

• Establish direct contact with the person or group involved in the incident. This can happen with a member of the VPSAS staff, Associate Dean, Athletic staff, UNH Police, or other University office or authority, as appropriate.

• Write forum article or letter to The New Hampshire editor outlining the incident and campus/community response to it.

• Pursue disciplinary action or investigation by the Affirmative Action and Equity Office, the Director of Community Standards, or Human Resources.
APPENDIX A

WHAT CONSTITUTES A “THREAT”

“Hateful expression does not necessarily constitute an unlawful ‘threat’.” Many court opinions have defined the word "threat" and they typically distinguish between provocative or boorish expression (typically protected by the First Amendment) and true threats, which may lawfully be punished. Additionally, courts have held that the perception of a threat must be "objective" (that is from the standpoint of a "reasonable person"), not the subjective impression of a complainant. (Stop Hate CD, ACUI, 2003)
APPENDIX B

PROTECTIONS UNDER THE FIRST AMENDMENT

What is protected by the First Amendment

1. Offensive and hurtful expressions that are vague and do not convey a specific and imminent threat of harm.

2. Calling someone a bad or derogatory name in an isolated or single event.

3. Parody, ridicule, and satire.

4. Political, religious, and commercial speech.

What is not protected by the First Amendment

1. Speech that could produce imminent lawless action or cause a panic. You can’t exclaim that you have a bomb on a plane, or yell “fire” in a theater.

2. Harassment that is severe, pervasive, and interferes with others. You can’t call someone in the middle of the night for a week and repeatedly call the person a bad name.

3. Expressions directed at identifiable individuals or groups of individuals that promote the imminent prospect of actual violence or harm, such as a face-to-face invitation to fight, terrorist threats, obscenity, or criminal trespass.

5. Evidence of unprivileged contact, unsolicited verbal or electronic contact, size and graphic nature of vandalism, graffiti, or display. Incidents or behaviors that are so awful, persistent, and focused on a person’s race, gender, etc. that reasonable people recognize them as so. Behavior that interferes with another person’s right to education. Speech that is repeated and uttered at inappropriate times and places. (Adapted from “FIRE’s Guide to Free Speech on Campus.”)
APPENDIX C

LAWS OF PROTECTION

What other laws provide protection against hate-motivated violence? General Criminal Laws: Hate crimes can sometimes be prosecuted under existing criminal laws, such as assault and battery, assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, murder, etc. These generic laws do not directly address the fact that an assault was hate-motivated, but they provide for some level of criminal accountability. Furthermore, New Hampshire does allow a sentence to be increased when the crime is bias-motivated.

http://www.gencourt.state.nh.us/rsa/html/LXII/651/651-6.htm
APPENDIX D

DEFINITIONS

Community member: Any person including students, faculty, staff, visitors to campus and participants in University activities, stakeholders. (Note: this pertains to reports made by non-UNH members.)

Bias, prejudice, and hate: These terms are used interchangeably around the country, and in government documents, such as the Department of Justice. There is no clear trend or preference for any of the three terms. Our choice to use “bias” does not discount our understanding that hatred for people, just because of their status, is an outrage and affront to us all. Using “bias” simply gives the UNH community one common term from which to act.

Bias incident (including hate crimes): A bias incident is an act of a threat or act of harassment or intimidation, verbal, written or physical which is personally directed against or targets either an individual student/faculty/staff member or a group because of their actual or perceived race, color, veteran status or marital status or other category protected by law or UNH policy. All members of the University Community are encouraged to come forward with their concerns to access support and request a University response. In deciding how to respond, administrators will be bound by UNH Affirmative Action and Equity Policies (http://www.usnh.edu/olpm/UNH/V_Pers/B.htm), Student Code of Conduct (https://www.unh.edu/student-life/2017-2018-student-rights-rules-and-responsibilities) and controlling law.

New Hampshire hate crime legislation creates penalty enhancements for pre-existing crimes when those crimes were substantially motivated by hatred, bias, or prejudice, based on the victim’s inclusion in one of several legally-specified protected categories. Thus commission of a hate crime requires that two elements be proven. First, it must be shown that the defendant committed an enumerated predicate offense, such as assault, robbery, manslaughter, or kidnapping. Second, it must be shown that the defendant had illegal motivations based on the victim’s legally-protected status. NHRSA 651:6 I-f.

educational programs that enhance personal welfare and growth. In so doing, we utilize the expertise and services of many departments and organizations on campus. Included in these programs are: Health (substance use/abuse, sexually responsible behavior, sport-specific nutrition), Hazing, Diversity and Inclusion (gender, ethnicity, race, religion, sexual orientation), Career Planning and Preparation, Financial Responsibility, Leadership and Community Service.

Office of Student Involvement and Leadership encourages UNH students to get involved in co-curricular activities, reaches out to student organizations in order to help them grow organizationally, and provides ongoing training and support to all student organizations recognized by the university. Student organizations are actively encouraged to seek out OSIL staff when they need help with anything - from leadership development, to organizational consulting, to conflict mediation, to simple logistical information. The Office of Student Involvement and Leadership is a unifying agent among all recognized student organizations at UNH, setting the stage for collaboration and partnerships.

Student Accessibility Services (SAS) (formerly Disability Services for Students) takes great pride in promoting the development of student self-reliance and the personal independence necessary to succeed in a university climate. Staff seek to create a comprehensively accessible environment where students are viewed on a basis of ability, not disability. The University of New Hampshire believes that students have the right and also the responsibility to determine whether or not to use support services. In keeping with this objective, students are expected and encouraged to utilize the resources of Student Accessibility Services to the degree they determine necessary.

Student Life is a vibrant community of student affairs professionals who share a devotion to the development and education of all students at UNH. Working in collaboration with colleagues from across the campus, we are dedicated to developing the intellectual abilities of our students and strengthening the character and judgment to use those abilities wisely. They allow one to explore without fear, fulfill hopes and aspirations, and address challenge squarely. We are Student Life, here to help you help yourself. Visit us on the web or in person for an ear to listen, for guidance when you want it, and for support when you need it.
