March 2018

A Brief Update

We hope you made time last week during that one day of record-breaking warmth to push away from the desk, away from research/coursework/writing/grading/thinking-with-eyes-shut, to step outside “in Just-spring when the world is mud-luscious.” (We know Actual-spring is weeks away, but couldn’t resist the Cummings reference.) Despite such pleasant distractions, the work goes on, and that means making plans to furnish our new space in T-Hall (Rooms G15 & G16). We’ll start moving in over Spring Break, and can’t wait to share pictures and start hosting meetings and events there! We’re also about to consider passing a resolution against state legislative attempts to allow firearms on our public campuses, and another resolution expressing solidarity with UNH Lecturers in the aftermath of recent non-renewals of more than a dozen faculty. What’s next?
