

UNH FACULTY SENATE
MOTION # XVIII-M12

on the review by UCAPC of the proposed dual major in sustainability

1. Motion presenter: Sterling Tomellini, proxy for Rudi Seitz, senator from Chemistry Department
2. Dates of Faculty Senate discussion: 4/28/14, 5/5/14
3. Motion: That the proposed dual major in sustainability be sent to the University Curriculum and Academic Planning Committee for review and consideration.
4. Rationale: The College of Engineering and Physical Sciences (CEPS) Curriculum and Academic Planning Committee (CAPC) voted 5-4-0 to recommend approval of the dual major in sustainability, the Committee also felt the proposal required additional consideration and at the same meeting voted unanimously (9-0-0) to have the dual major reviewed by the entire CEPS Faculty and 8-0-1 to request that the Senate send it to UCAPC. It is the view of the CEPS CAPC that the intent of the committee has not been properly communicated with claims to the contrary that the faculty in CEPS had approved the dual major. The motion asks that the intent of the CEPS faculty CAPC be honored by the Senate.
5. Senate Action: Motion passed with 25 in favor, 5 opposed, and 5 abstentions
6. Senate chair's signature: Scott G. Duden
