If Micah Fialka-Feldman was born in the early 20th century, his IQ score at age 11 of 40, would have led him toward institutionalization and involuntary sterilization. Today he co-teaches classes at Syracuse University. But unlike Micah, most of the 6.5 million Americans identified as having an intellectual disability continue to live segregated lives based on early labels and a lifetime of low expectations.

Dan Habib’s new film Intelligent Lives (working title, coming Fall 2017) will explore how our narrow views of intelligence have created unnecessary “ceilings” for people with intellectual disability, and how Micah embodies a new paradigm of what it means to be intelligent. The film also features narration and a personal perspective from Academy Award winning actor Chris Cooper. Join us for a preview of the film followed by discussion and a question and answer session with Dan and Micah.

DATE
March 31, 2016

TIME
4:00 pm - 6:00 pm

LOCATION
MUB Theatre I
Memorial Union Building
University of New Hampshire,
83 Main Street, Durham, NH

COST
Free

QUESTIONS?
Email contact.iod@unh.edu or call (603) 228 - 2084.

The Janet M. Krumm Disability & Media Lecture Series is an annual public lecture series which recognizes the power of information and the contributions of individuals who have used the media, written and visual, to create an understanding of the experience of disability, as well as the community’s collective responsibility to embrace diversity.

Institute on Disability/UCED

University of New Hampshire

Support for this screening comes from the New Hampshire Charitable Foundation.

STAY CONNECTED

[facebook] [googleplus] [instagram] [linkedin] [twitter] [youtube]

www.iod.unh.edu/events