Catherine Welter, an English Ph.D. student, proposed a speaker to the commission. The speaker agreed to fund the speaker.

- The talk is 11:45 AM-1:00 PM on Friday, April 29th in MUB 156.
- Dr. Julia Miele Rodas will speak on “Absence, Apostrophe, Fragmentation: Autistic Rhetorics in 'Bartleby,' Copperfield & Frankenstein.”
- This presentation could be of interest to people in many disciplines.
- Undergraduates are welcome – please consider inviting your students.

The accessibility working group is continuing to make progress on establishing areas of shelter and the snow route.

The commission is asking its members to notify them by May 5th if they wish to return to the commission next year. As I am graduating in May, the GSS should begin to look for a second representative.

The programming group is planning to hold their International Day of Disability in conjunction with the International Education Week in November. They plan to have a table on Wednesday from 11-1 during that week.

They will hold a panel discussion on March 1st of next year.
